By ROBERT TUCKMAN

Many People Born To Be Fat Says Researcher

By ROBERT GOLDENSTEIN
CHICAGO (AP)—Many individuals are "literally born to become fat," a researcher on obesity contended today.

Dr. I. M. Perlestein of the University of Louisville school of medicine said these persons suffer from a complex condition which blocks energy producing thyroid hormone from entering the tissues.

He said his overweight patients with this condition achieved an average weight loss of 15 to 20 pounds a month with no restriction on protein calories when given large doses of T-3, a synthetic thyroid hormone available commercially.

Perlestein said in a speech and interview at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association the study of the role of thyroid hormone in obesity was prompted by the frequent observation that persons without thyroid disease develop thyroid antibodies.

Perlestein said 90 per cent of his overweight patients with thyroid problems could pinpoint exactly when they began putting on excess pounds.

He said it was precipitated by a stress situation such as an operation, fracture, a psychic problem or birth of a child.

"It is felt these obese individuals are literally born to become fat, that some particular stress tips the balance and an antibody situation then develops which binds the thyroxine that they produce in unusable form," he concluded.

Argentina's Built-In Revolt Trigger Named After Dictator

By KENNETH L. DAVIS
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—The armed forces of Argentina, once again in charge of the nation by virtue of their guns, have a built-in revolt trigger.

It's called Peronism after exiled Dictator Juan D. Peron.

Any time the followers of Peron get too strong, the trigger clicks and another government falls.

The fear of renewed power for the forces Peron left behind is rooted in memories of his nine-year dictatorship and the hold his movement still has on Argentina's workers. The Peronists control around three million votes in a voting population of 12 million, including most of the trade unions.

The military would prefer no Peronist candidate ever gets on any ballot. But so long as that ballot is in a remote and lightly populated province — such as Neuquen, Chaco or Jujuy — the military generally rolls with the punch. The Peronists control those three provinces.

But if the Peronists show signs they can take Buenos Aires Province, the trigger begins to move. In provincial elections in 1965, it became evident that unless President Arturo Illia's government acquired

The pilots reported the raids were "highly successful" with both storage areas in flames. Smoke rose 35,000 feet from the complex of fuel tanks near Hanoi and 20,000 feet from the Haiphong tanks, a U.S. spokesman said.

The Hanoi target "was covered like a blanket," he reported.

The U.S. Air Force announced one plane, an F105 Thunderchief fighter-bomber, fell in the attack near Hanoi and the pilot was missing. This came out after a communique of the U.S. command had reported "no U.S. aircraft were lost in either strike."

Radio Hanoi claimed seven planes were shot down — four near Hanoi and three in the Haiphong area — and several U.S. pilots were captured.

The air offensive in the Communist north, now in its 16th month, completely dominated the U.S. Command's daily war report.

In South Viet Nam, where thousands of U.S. troops are in the field searching for the Communists, "only very light and scattered, minor contacts" were reported.

On the political front, the threat of a Buddhist boycott of South Viet Nam's September elections diminished as more monks rallied behind the conciliatory policy espoused by the moderate chairman of the Buddhist Institute.

The growing support in the Buddhist hierarchy for Thich Tam Chau left his militant rival, Thich Tri Quang, increasingly isolated, but Quang showed no signs of abandoning his hunger strike.

Six flights of Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs struck the petrochemical complex three miles across the Red River from the center of Hanoi, using 750-pound bombs during the 25-minute attack, the U.S. spokesman said.

He said the area around the 32 tanks had no sizable population.

Four flights of Navy jets from the 7th Fleet carriers Constellation and Ranger raided the oil facilities at Haiphong, two miles from the center of the city. The spokesman said 95 per cent of the fuel going into North Viet Nam moves through the depot, which contains 38 tanks above and below ground. The raid lasted eight minutes.

A flight usually numbers about four aircraft.

The American pilots ran into intensive anti-aircraft fire over Hanoi but said they encountered little flak in the Haiphong area. The Communists did not send up any MIG fighters to challenge the U.S. fighter-bombers nor were any surface-to-air missiles sighted, the spokesman said.

U.S. planes have been gradually tightening a noose around Hanoi and its port, which lies 65 miles to the east. There has been no contact.

TRAIN-TRUCK CRASH — WHEATON, Ill. (AP)—One man was killed and one was critically injured Tuesday in a train-truck collision near Cloverdale in Du Page County.

The victim was Thomas J. Ryan, 43, of Downers Grove, who was driving a cement truck. The truck and the Illinois Central Land O'Corn passenger train collided. The train was en route from Waterloo, Iowa, to Chicago. All five cars and two diesel units of the train left the tracks after the collision at Army Trail Road and Gary Avenue.

The two diesel units overturned, but the cars remained upright.

Elephant Fatally Crushes Tot

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Nine-year-old Michael Sharpe heard a mother scream.

A 3-year-old girl with her bag of popcorn had slipped under the gate near the elephant cage at the Henry Vilas Park Zoo Tuesday.

Winkle, a 3½ ton import from India, snaked her trunk out through the bars and curled it around the child.

"I didn't know what to do," Michael said. "Winkle just grabbed her and started pulling her in. She was trumpeting and the girl's mother was screaming. I don't know what was wrong with Winkle. I never saw her that way."

The girl was Ruth Ellen Freedman, the daughter of Prof. Ralph Freedman of Princeton University.

Before anyone could reach her, the elephant smashed the child against the bars of the cage, dropped her, picked her up again, drew her inside the cage and let her fall unconscious to the concrete floor.

After Mrs. Freedman screamed, she and her husband dashed to a gate and entered in an attempt to rescue the child but by then the elephant had pulled her through the bars.

Ruth Ellen was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Dane County Coroner Clyde Chamberlain said the fatal injury probably was inflicted by the elephant's feet after the child was inside the cage.

"She was more or less trampled," he said.

Kennedy In New York Demos' Driver's Seat

By TOM POSTER
NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy emerged today as undisputed leader of New York's Democratic party, strengthened by a smashing victory over once-powerful Tammany Hall in a normally obscure primary judgeship race.

Kennedy's hand-picked candidate for judge of the Surrogate (Probate) Court — Samuel J. Silverman — defeated the regular Manhattan organization candidate, Arthur Klein, in an open test of Kennedy's political strength. Both Silverman and Klein now are New York Supreme Court justices.

The race was the highlight of New York's primary elections, which also saw a Goldwater Republican defeat a candidate endorsed by Sen. Jacob K. Javits, and an opponent of President Johnson's Viet Nam policy upset a veteran congressman.

On suburban Long Island, Steven Derouin, who lost his congressional seat when he backed Barry Goldwater in the Johnson landslide of 1964, won the Republican nomination over GOP moderate William J. Casey.

From Washington, Goldwater said in a statement that Derouin's victory "was just one more convincing proof the mainstream of the Republican party is, as it always has been, common sense conservatism."

Casey was endorsed by Javits, but Javits did not campaign actively for him. Derouin will face Rep. Lester L. Wolff, the Democrat who defeated him two years ago, in the November election.

In Brooklyn, the powerful Democratic organization beat down two strong challenges against Rep. Edna Kelly, a

South Carolina White Voters Keep Race Lines

By AL LANIER
COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—White voters apparently cast their ballots solidly along racial lines to defeat four Negro candidates who had been given a good chance to win Democratic nominations to the all-white South Carolina Legislature.

Voting in adjoining Williamsburg and Clarendon counties followed racial lines closely. Vote totals in the runoff primary Tuesday indicated almost all eligible voters, Negro and white, cast ballots.

Both Negroes and whites had claimed a slight edge in voting registrations in the two central South Carolina counties.

The four Negro candidates had led the legislative races in the June 14 primary which eliminated several white candidates. However, all the white voters apparently rallied behind the white candidates for the runoff.

In Clarendon County, a Negro minister, the Rev. J.S. Hunter, lost his bid for nomination to the county's lone seat in the state House of Representatives. He said he would file a protest involving ballots cast in two precincts in Summerton.

Final tabulations gave the Rev. Mr. Hunter 3,665 votes to 3,878 votes for his white opponent, Joseph Coker.

In Williamsburg, where Negroes sought all three of the county's legislative seats, King-street undertaker Virgil Dimery lost the Senate nomination to LaNue Flory, who had 5,828 votes to Dimery's 4,041.

Incumbent state Rep. J. Henry Stuckey and Ernest W. Carter defeated Negro candidates J.E. Lawrence and Purvis Easley for the two House seats in Williamsburg County. Stuckey had 5,989 votes, Carter 5,949, Lawrence 4,179 and Easley 4,073.

A Negro, Virgin Johnson, also was defeated in a runoff race with two white candidates for two seats on the Hampton County Council.

Federal observers kept close watch on the voting in Clarendon County. Hundreds of Negroes have been added to the county's voter list since federal registrars were sent in last November.

South Carolina's 1967 General Assembly thus will retain its all-white makeup maintained since 1901 when a Negro legislator served in the House.

No Surveyor Response After Frigid Night

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—America's camera on the moon, Surveyor 1, failed Tuesday night to respond to initial commands sent to reactivate it after the super-cold lunar night — the sun at temperatures as low as 280 degrees below zero.

Said a spokesman at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which sent the commands: "This was not totally expected. We hoped it would work."

The 620-pound spacecraft which began sending pictures June 1 after a soft landing on the moon, transmitted more than 10,000 pictures before it was engulfed in the lunar night June 14.

JPL, through its Goldstone, Calif., transmitter, attempted to stir Surveyor again for 3½ hours beginning at 6 p.m., approximately 5½ hours before the lunar sunrise.

The JPL spokesman said further transmissions would be sent Wednesday and Thursday night, and if unsuccessful, another attempt would be made July 7 when the craft's solar panels face the sun at lunar noon.

Three reasons were given why initial attempts to revive Surveyor failed: the craft's batteries could be completely dead; since it was still lunar night, it was too cold for Surveyor to answer; or the extreme cold disrupted the contact frequencies.

Hope To Cut Liquor Sale To Minors

By ARTHUR L. SRB
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Illinois law enforcement officials are launching an early drive for support of legislation they claim would help reduce sale of liquor to minors 80 per cent.

The proposal would require colored photographs of motorists on their drivers' licenses. "This will be our No. 1 bill in the 1967 General Assembly," says Joe Hogan, executive vice president of the Illinois Police and Benevolent Protective Association, an organization with 17,900 members.

Colored photographs "would stop virtually all illegal production of licenses and provide true identification of the licensees," Hogan said in an interview.

"The proposed laminated licenses would benefit the tavern operators who want positive identification of young persons attempting to purchase alcohol," Hogan added.

"They also would help businesses which cash checks and aid policemen in the enforcement of liquor laws."

Suspect Ex-Con In Strangling Of Rockford Woman

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)—Police said today they are conducting scientific tests to determine whether an ex-convict charged with kidnapping a Rockford housewife may have been involved in the killing of a Rockford area woman.

Sheriff's Lt. Michael Iasparro said witnesses have reported seeing Sanford Norman Harris near the home of Mrs. Lauretta Lyons, 46, on June 9, the day she was found strangled with a necktie.

Harris, 43, is charged with abducting and beating Mrs. Charlotte Kay O'Brien, 27, mother of three. Mrs. O'Brien was found beaten and semiconscious in a farm field June 20 after she had been missing three days. She is recovering in a Rockford hospital.

Mrs. O'Brien told authorities a man seized her at a shopping center struck her on the head and forced her to lie on the floor of her car as he drove off with her. She was found nearly nude near Rockford.

Harris, a convicted murderer on parole from a Michigan prison, was seized after a woman shopper supplied police with the license number of Harris' car.

The woman said she saw a man in a red car sitting in the shopping center staring at women shoppers prior to the abduction of Mrs. O'Brien. The woman took down the car's license number.

Mrs. Lyons' body was found by her husband, Edwin, 56, a chemist, in the living room of their home near Rockford.

Lt. Iasparro said two neighbors of the Lyons reported they saw Harris park his red car near the Lyons' home and stare at Mrs. Lyons until she fled inside and locked the doors.

New Army In Viet Nam This Summer

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The United States is putting pretty much of a new army into battle in Viet Nam this summer.

It is just about a year since American troops arrived in sizable numbers and began building up to the present 271,000-man force.

Now, and during the coming two or three months, many of these troops will be returning home after one-year tours of duty.

But the troop turnover will be neither sudden nor complete.

The army intentionally staggered its replacements. It sent here some draftees who had as little as two or three months to go to complete their two-year Army service. Others had five or six months to serve. Thus, these soldiers are replaced in less than a full year.

As an additional shock absorber, replacements are made by individual soldiers rather than whole units.

Hence, any given unit may receive a lot of new faces—as some have recently—but there will be still a sprinkling of combat veterans on hand.

Gen. William C. Westmoreland, commander of U.S. forces in Viet Nam, says it takes about one month for new arrivals to become acclimated, particularly to Viet Nam's heat.

Some units have been slowed in combat at the start because of numerous cases of heat prostration.

Ongania Hopes To Win Masses

By ISAAC A. LEVI
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—Lt. Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, a former army chief, is to be sworn in today as head of a new military regime which hopes to win over some of the Argentine masses still loyal to Juan D. Peron.

Ongania, 52, was picked by a three-man military junta made up of the present commanders of the army, navy and air force. They took control Tuesday after the army overthrew the civilian government of President Arturo Illia in a bloodless overnight coup.

The military gave no indication how long it intends to remain in power. Veteran observers predicted it will be several years before it permits election of another civilian regime.

The military, which overthrew Peron and sent him into exile in 1955, is determined to prevent the Peronists from returning to power. Its chief grievance against Illia was his failure to reduce the strength of Peron's followers, who won control of three of Argentina's 22 provinces in recent elections and probably would have won Buenos Aires Province in elections next March.

The junta said it plans sweeping economic, political and social reforms aimed at "voicing Argentines away from Peronism." An estimated 20 to 30 per cent of Argentina's 12 million voters still recall with longing the benefits Peron gave them during his nine-year dictatorship.

The military said two of its main aims are "rebuilding Argentina's prestige abroad and modernizing the country."

Military sources said Ongania plans to streamline the cabinet traditionally made up of eight ministers and 12 secretaries. They indicated he will not name a defense minister or secretaries for the three armed forces. This would leave the army, navy and air force chiefs who make up the junta in complete charge of their respective services.

Ongania, one of Argentina's most respected officers, graduated from the Argentine Military College in 1934 and moved up through the ranks until Illia named him to command the army in 1964. An opponent of military involvement in politics, he played a large part in securing military acquiescence to the coup.

Puerto Rican Leader Gives 5-Day Challenge

By DAN McNULTY
CHICAGO (AP)—The leader of a Puerto Rican march on City Hall said Tuesday night there will be another march if city officials do not respond to their grievances.

"We are going to wait for five days and if we don't hear from the mayor's office we will march again," said Juan Diaz, spokesman for the Spanish Action Committee of Chicago.

Diaz led the orderly march on City Hall earlier in the day and presented a list of Puerto Rican grievances to aides of Mayor Richard J. Daley. Daley had left his office before they arrived.

Rockford Bank Officer Turns Self In To FBI

CHICAGO (AP)—John Bartholomew, vice president of the City National Bank and Trust Co. of Rockford, has surrendered to the FBI after being sought for six weeks on an embezzlement charge.

Bartholomew appeared Tuesday before U.S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike and waived a preliminary hearing. He was ordered held to the U.S. District Court in Chicago after posting $10,000 bond, then was released.

The FBI said Bartholomew, 36, fled from Rockford May 4 after a routine audit of bank records indicated minor discrepancies. Bank officials said a further audit revealed that $200,000 in misapplications dated back to early 1964.

A criminal complaint filed in U.S. District Court May 11 charges Bartholomew with misappropriating $30,000.

Bartholomew also was named in a civil suit filed in Winnebago County involving the alleged misappropriations.

Bartholomew, who is divorced, formerly worked at the Sears Bank and Trust Co. in Chicago and the Fox Lake (Ill.) State Bank.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Sound, fury and confusion swirled through the nation's economy in the first half of 1966. Almost everything got bigger, although as the first half ends there's some doubt if everything got better.

The long economic upswing suddenly became a boom in the first three months of the year. Then just as suddenly the emphasis changed from the danger of overheating to the threat of a chilling slowdown, even the possibility of an incipient turnaround.

An inflation debate raged, changed direction, and now is bogged in confusion: Is inflation already here? A continuing threat? A receding bugaboo?

The tax debate still swirls: Is a federal tax increase needed to cool down a still bubbling economy? To pay for a more expensive war in Viet Nam than so far officially admitted?

And gaining in intensity and confusion as the first half moves into history is the battle of tight money. Interest rates are rising, both those that borrowers must pay and those that savers can command. Is the economy, or a part of it, being hurt? Or is the prosperous economic expansion being saved?

The year started with a clash between the administration and the steel industry over a price hike. This ended in a compromise, with the increases cut in half. And as the first six months unfolded, compromises seemed to be taking most of the zip out of the administration's attempt to guide wage and price policies.

The stock market bounced all over the place, to the confusion of the investing public.

Car sales and output boomed in the first three months, then went into a decline that chilled both the stock traders and the general public.

But in dollars and cents the economy looked far from sick. The Gross National Product was running at an annual rate of $387 billion in the final three months of 1965. This measure of the nation's output of goods and services jumped to $714 billion in the first quarter of 1966, and despite all the talk about slow-downs is running at an estimated $725 billion annual rate at midyear.

Most people are doing all right. Personal income rose from an annual rate of $552 billion in January to $565 billion in May. Personal consumption outlays went from an annual rate of $441 billion in the fourth quarter of 1965 to $453 billion in the first quarter of 1966. Part of this was due to a drop in the rate of savings. But part was due to the rise in the cost of living. The index stood at 111 per cent of the 1957-59 average in January, but by May had risen to 112.6 per cent.

Employment climbed in the first half of this year, but so did the size of the labor force. The jobless rate was 4 per cent in January and in May, but in February and April it had sunk to 3.7 per cent.

Stalin Piker Beside Mao In Thinking Area

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Joseph Stalin, in the words of his idolaters, may have been "the genius leader of all mankind," but he was a piker along-side Mao Tze-tung when it came to thinking.
Mao's thinking, to cite just one Chinese Communist assessment, is "the greatest truth since time immemorial."
The Chinese Communists, who like to make great leaps forward, took a big jump in the past year in the field of the personality cult. Their performance promises to put Stalin's cult to

of the whole world for the leader and teacher of all mankind, the inspirer and organizer of the victory of communism."
Now it's Mao's turn.
But there is one curious thing about the Mao cult which sets it apart from Stalin's. Although some time ago the obeisance often was to Mao himself, now it is invariably to his "thinking," as if Mao's body had been snatched away, leaving a legacy to be administered by some sort of collective leadership.
"Chairman Mao is the red sun in our hearts," the party press would say in the past. "Chairman Mao is the radiant sunlight in our minds."
Now it's all about Mao's words and thought.
Some examples: "Each one of Chairman Mao's words is worth 10,000 words."

LOG DRIVE

In an operation called rearing, members of a rearing crew try to pry loose a number of logs jammed in mid-river. Serious jams are sometimes dynamited.

At start of drive, a bulldozer pushes logs stacked during summer and winter into the river.

The courage and strength of the logging man, especially on hazardous log drives down churning rivers, has been immortalized in American literature. From such men comes the legendary Paul Bunyan.

With modern technology, the old log drives are gradually disappearing. Now logs are hauled to mills mostly on trucks and trains.

One of the last major sawlog drives in the nation took place recently when some 35 million board feet of logs were moved down the Clearwater river in northern Idaho to a mill at Lewiston.

The logs were stacked some 90 miles upriver during the summer and winter months by logging crews who felled the timber and skidded it to the river's edge. The drive began with the high waters of the spring runoff.

A 34-man crew accompanied the logs down river, using pevees and pike poles to clear jams.

With them went a floating cook and bunk house called a wannigan—a three-piece raft buoyed by inflatable pontoons and steered with powerful outboard motors.

Once the drive is under way the crew is seldom dry. They spend eight hours each day in the water working logs loose. Sure footedness, quick reflexes and brute strength are qualifications for the job.

This drive, by Patlatch Forests, Inc., has been going on annually since 1929 but will soon end. Next year the logs will be diverted through a tunnel at the Dworshak dam construction site some 40 miles below the starting point. The following year the logs will have to be moved by truck since the dam will block the way.

Now, any logging man will tell you that if old Paul Bunyan were still around they'd still make the drive. He'd just lift those logs right over the dam!

Using pevees, two members of the crew try to work logs jammed at river's edge back into the river. Powerful jet boats carry the crews to and from the jams in the river and everyone wears life vests.

Once a jam starts to break up the crews must scramble quickly back into the boat to keep from being carried away with the logs. Sometimes the logs are pulled apart with a line attached to the jet boats.

To insure good footing the men constantly repair the spikes on their caulked boots.

A raft called a wannigan accompanies the loggers down river, stopping at night at the river's edge. On board is the cook tent and two bunk houses. The huge raft is steered with powerful outboard motors.

Steaks and ice cream, as well as pies, biscuits and cookies make up the daily fare for the hungry logging crews.

Student Editor Will Take Case To High Court

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Annette Buchanan's fight against being forced to reveal confidential news sources will go to the Oregon Supreme Court.

The 20-year-old student editor was fined $300 in State Circuit Court Tuesday for refusing to identify seven marijuana smokers she interviewed for a story in the University of Oregon newspaper last month.

Her attorney, Arthur Johnson, said that William Knowland, publisher of the Oakland Tribune and former Republican senator from California, had sent $300 for either the fine or legal expenses.

Judge Edward Leavy said her refusal of a court order to name the sources was contempt of court. He gave her the maximum fine, but did not impose a possible six-month jail term.

been pressure in some quarters in Washington for an aerial offensive against the cities of Hanoi and Haiphong themselves.

Only Tuesday, the White House declined to comment on reports circulating in Washington that President Johnson had canceled air strikes against Hanoi and Haiphong in the past five days because of security leaks.

The Air Force and Navy flew 78 missions over North Viet Nam Tuesday. In addition to the two bridges, U.S. pilots hit fuel storage areas, rail lines, barges, trucks, boxcars and radar sites, mostly in the southern panhandle.

One Air Force strike was against a radar site 15 miles northwest of Hanoi.

At dawn today, U.S. B-52 bombers plastered two enemy troop and supply areas in South Viet Nam. One wave rained bombs 20 miles southwest of Hue in the northern province of Thua Thien. Another wave hammered at a highland area 35 miles west of Pleiku close to the Cambodian border.

U.S. and Vietnamese pilots flew a total of 569 single-plane sorties in the south Tuesday.

The World Today

some fighting with newcomers anxious to wrest control from the oldsters. The oldsters held fast.

It's not just the fractured condition of the party which makes it look pathetic. It's the vagueness. There were harsh words about the American role in Viet Nam. But, generally, the tone was as mild as a pussycat.

Hall was the prince of vagueness, talking about setting in motion a movement to present an independent candidate, although not a Communist, for president in 1968.

The party is trying to hook onto the fringes of agitation, like the civil rights movement or among youths. It's operating at a bad time.

The Communist world is split. The satellites are restless. Marxism in Europe is losing its rigidity, communism's chances in the prosperous countries are hopeless and in the backward countries it's not doing well.

The American Communist party is in a particularly unhappy spot and has been since President Franklin D. Roosevelt changed the direction of American thinking by establishing government concern for the general welfare.

All that has happened since then has been in the same direction, but more intensely, which makes the promises of communism look a little ridiculous.

There are vast areas of poverty and deprivation in America but the general population has a prosperity it never enjoyed before. And that population, since it now has so much to lose, is not going to listen to demands for radical change.

This is what the new radicalism in America faces: A largely self-satisfied society, richer than ever despite the injustices inflicted on individual groups, like Negroes.

The question then is: To whom can the new or young radicals, so-called, appeal? If their cause has anything more than restless discontent, like an ideology for the American future, it hasn't reached the masses of the people.

And it is questionable that many of the discontented young people are motivated by ideas or dreams of a more perfect society. With many the motivations are probably personal, the product of individual frustrations.

Any kind of radical third party movement of any real force — at a time when the government is preaching the Great Society theme and doing something about it — seems impossible now or far off.

the election in which Illia won the presidency.

Later Illia feared the general was becoming too powerful and friction developed between them. Ongania retired last November but remained a dominant figure in military circles.

The military takeover may prevent the Inter-American Conference of Foreign Ministers being held in Buenos Aires Aug. 29 as scheduled.

The United States and a number of other hemisphere nations suspended relations with Argentina after the coup. The State Department expressed regret at "the break in continuity of democratic constitutional government in Argentina." It said Washington will consult with other nations in the Organization of American States on future recognition.

The United States leads the world in honey production, with the Soviet Union ranking second.

Democratic national committee woman, and Rep. Abraham Multer.

In an upstate Hudson Valley contest, Hamilton Fish, Jr., son and grandson of former congressmen, won the Republican nomination for Congress. He defeated Alexander Aldrich, a cousin and former aide to Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Kennedy encouraged Silverman to enter the race for Manhattan surrogate last month after the New York County Republican organization followed Tammany Hall in endorsing Klein.

Kennedy was jubilant at Silverman campaign headquarters as his candidate claimed victory. The senator flew to Washington as the polls opened on a hot, humid afternoon. He returned shortly before the polls closed at 10 p.m. to cast his first primary vote since taking up residence in Manhattan last year.

He said the victory would free the selection of judges from political control. The Surrogate's Court dispenses millions of dollars in legal work to attorneys in cases involving wills, estates and special guardianships.

To Democratic politicians, however, the victory was a reflection of Kennedy's political popularity with the voters and spotlighted his ability to make his power felt in local elections.

Although Klein lost to Silverman, the political impact of the race was felt most by the Tammany leader, J. Raymond Jones, only Negro county chairman in the United States. Jones charged Kennedy injected himself in the race as a "personal vendetta" because Jones supports President Johnson and has endorsed former Mayor Robert F. Wagner for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Earlier, a service station attendant testified that McCleery was at the station about 11 p.m. on March 21 and that he acted normal.

In other testimony Tuesday, Deputy Sheriff James Burns of Adams County said under cross-examination that he had shown McCleery pictures of an electric chair drawn by another inmate after McCleery's arrest. Burns said he did it in an effort to induce McCleery to admit the slayings.

McCleery has maintained his innocence.

ment of curfew laws," he said. Joining in support of the proposal, Hogan said, are the Illinois Chiefs of Police Association, the Illinois Sheriffs Association and the National Fraternal Order of Policemen.

Hogan and other police officials are seeking support from Secretary of State Paul Powell, whose office administers the license program, and Howard Cartwright, chairman of the Illinois Liquor Control Commission.

Powell, who drew criticism when his investigators pulled a drivers' license raid on a Champaign tavern near the University of Illinois campus early this year, said he hasn't decided whether to back the plan.

"I would favor changing the law so that minors would have different colored licenses," Powell said. "But colored photographs might be too expensive."

Hogan said the cost of colored photographs could be offset by increasing the $3 drivers license fee to $4.

Elephant

Ruth Ellen had come to Madison a few days ago with her parents.

Freedman, a prominent scholar and writer, was spending the summer at the University of Wisconsin as a visiting lecturer. The university is not far from the city zoo where Winkie, the only elephant, has been the star attraction for children since her arrival almost 20 years ago.

Zoo Director Alvin Nelson considered the 23-year-old animal docile. "We've had no problems with her," he said.

Children fearlessly fed her peanuts and popcorn.

The barrier was supposed to keep zoo visitors at a safe distance from the cages. "It's a perfectly safe enclosure," said Nelson, "except if people want to get in, you can't keep them out."

The first person to reach the child was Melvin Bollig, the caretaker. He was in the nearby lion house.

"I heard screaming and I rushed to the cage. I saw the child lying on the concrete. The elephant walked away the moment I walked in the cage. She acted as if she knew she had done something wrong."

The coroner said he didn't know what would become of the animal.

Puerto Rican

The Puerto Rican leaders followed the march with an evening rally at the San Juan Theatre on Chicago's Northwest Side—scene of three days of rioting two weeks ago.

A reporter counted 165 persons in the afternoon march. Some 350 persons attended the evening rally. There are about 100,000 Puerto Ricans in Chicago.

The march was first publicly called by Theodore Velez of New York City, director of the East Harlem Tenants Council. But Velez did not participate as he said he would.

The Puerto Rican leaders asked the Daley administration for, among other things, "anti-poverty funds to be directed by a local, grass-root people," a headstart program for preschool children, a school work program for high school dropouts and training to fit people into "non-menial areas of industry."

The Puerto Rican leaders disavowed any connection with pamphlets handed out around City Hall urging Puerto Ricans to take violent action against the police.

$51.7 MILLION FOR IC FREIGHT CARS
CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois Central Railroad announced today the largest expenditure in its history—$51.7 million—for the acquisition of freight cars.

William B. Johnson, president, said the funds will be used to build or buy 4,725 freight cars of all types during 1967.

Officials say that plans include all sizes and styles of cars to appeal to a wide variety of shippers.

The new order of freight cars and a current order bring to a total of $63.5 million the cost of cars to be delivered before the end of 1967.

Nixon Holds Secret Meet With Romney

DETROIT (AP) — Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Michigan Gov. George Romney held a closed door, 45-minute meeting Tuesday before they took off in almost identical terms on bigness in government.

The two Republican leaders, frequently mentioned as possible candidates for the party's presidential nomination in 1968, parried newsmen's queries as to what had gone on in the long, unscheduled meeting.

Nixon laughed aloud when one reporter asked, "Did you two settle which one was to head the '68 ticket?" Neither he nor Romney replied.

Nixon, in a keynote address at the national Jaycees convention and at a news conference, chided Democrats who had not supported President Johnson's Vietnam policies.

Both Nixon and Romney hit hard at the theme that the federal government was getting too big and that the country was drifting towards centralization.

Nixon drew a standing ovation from the 10,000 delegates when he declared, "The government should not help those not wishing to help themselves."

He drew thunderous applause when he urged that the government grant tax credits to parents who are putting children through college and to private industry for training people for new jobs.

Romney said the nation "must end the myth that every problem can be solved out of Washington with money."

"We must modernize state and local governments and bring a halt to the concentration of power in Washington," Nixon, whose 35-minute speech was interrupted nine times by applause, devoted most of his time to the Vietnamese war.

HOLD SAVANNA GIRL AS PRIME WITNESS
JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Helen Snow, 19, of Savanna, Ill., was discharged as a defendant in a first degree murder case in Western District Magistrate Court here Tuesday but is still being held in default of bond as a material witness.

Judge Charles E. Teel Jr. dismissed the complaint against Miss Snow after the state entered a non-prosecution plea.

Prosecuting Atty. George Baldridge said the entering of the plea means there will be no further prosecution by the state "at this time," but the state could refile the complaint in the future.

Circuit Court Judge Ray E. Watson granted Monday a request by the prosecutor to set bond at $5,000 for the girl after the state declared her to be a material witness in the case of John Joseph Camillo, 22, of Des Plaines, Ill.

Camillo is charged with first degree murder in connection with the fatal shooting Jan. 13 of C. V. Lane at a liquor and grocery store east of Joplin. He is scheduled to be tried in September term of Circuit Court here.

Baldridge said Miss Snow was alleged to have been in a car outside the store at the time of the shooting.

SENTENCED TO PRISON ON TAX CHARGE
CHICAGO (AP) — Vincent Inserro, 54, an underworld figure, was sentenced Tuesday to two years in federal prison for not reporting his income of $22,975.

Inserro, of North Riverside, was also given a one-year probation to follow the prison term. Judge Hubert L. Will of U.S. District Court pronounced sentence after an indictment charging Inserro with failure to file income tax returns for 1961 through 1963.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market slumped again in moderate trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.9 million shares, compared with 6.28 million Tuesday.

Here was the picture near the close:

Despite the size of the losses by the averages, one broker said the reaction to U.S. bombing of oil installations near Hanoi and Haiphong was not severe. He pointed out that the decline came on low trading volume.

A number of Wall Streeters expressed the opinion that the steep losses Tuesday and Monday discounted the expected stepping up of North Viet Nam bombings.

Sperry Rand, up about half a point, looked like the most active stock of the day.

The aircrafts, electronics and airlines were off sharply. Douglas, actively traded, lost more than 2 points. General Dynamics and Boeing were down a point or more.

Zenith declined a point and Raytheon fell about half a point. Pan American World Airways, American Airlines, United Air Lines and Eastern Air Lines fell 2 points or more.

American Telephone lost nearly a point and Du Pont was down more than a point.

Eastman Kodak and General Electric fell about 2 points.

Prices declined in moderate trading on the American Stock Exchange.

FORMER BANK CHIEF SENTENCED FOR MISAPPLYING FUNDS

CHICAGO (AP) — Clarence W. Jones, former executive vice president of the State Bank of Braidwood, has been sentenced to two years in prison for misapplying more than $36,000 in loans.

Judge Hubert L. Will also sentenced Jones, 45, Tuesday to three years probation after he serves the prison sentence.

Jones pleaded guilty to a three-count indictment accusing him of making a series of fictitious loans and issuing checks which were made out to other people. He then cashed the checks and used the money for his own benefit.

Jones, who now sells real estate in Joliet, resigned during a surprise audit of the bank's records in January 1965.

Highway Commission Studies License Fee Schedule In States

Illinois is one of only two states that bases its passenger car license fee on horsepower of the motor. The other state is Missouri.

Many motorists regard this as poor policy, but the protest against it has never risen to a volume that has prompted any of the state's lawmakers to put a bill before the legislature to change it.

Whether the Illinois Highway Study Commission will have any recommendation on the subject for the 1967 Legislature has not been determined. The matter was mentioned, but not extensively, in the 10 public hearings held around the state by the commission last year.

Nineteen states charge a flat fee for all passenger cars, regardless of size, weight or horsepower. Among them are Indiana, Wisconsin, Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts. The Indiana fee is $12.50, Kentucky $5, Wisconsin $18, Ohio $10, Pennsylvania $10 and Massachusetts $6. California and Washington states base the fee on a combination of flat rate and market value of the car. In the Ford line, for new cars California's license fees are: Falcon, $46.06, Fairlane, $53.42; Galaxie, $63.74; Mercury $75.38, and Lincoln, $133.34. The Washington license fees range from $46.56 on the Falcon to $134.34 on the Lincoln.

Summer's Slipping By—Sandy Beach Needs Money Now!

Summer's slipping by . . . and Project Sandy Beach urgently needs more financial support.

This was the plea Tuesday from Sandy Beach officials as they assessed the progress at the Lake Jacksonville site designed to provide supervised swimming for the public.

Paul Barnes, a member of the committee, said, "let's get behind this Sandy Beach project and see it through. Send your contributions, large or small, today."

Alderman Homer Baptist, chairman of the committee, said the project is moving closer to completion even though it appears to be slow. "The only thing holding up progress right now is lack of adequate funds," Baptist said.

Alderman Carl Bourn, treasurer of the project, indicated that a good percentage of the support, both financial and material has been provided by people who live outside the corporate limits of Jacksonville. Bourn estimated that about a third of the total effort has been provided by businesses and residents outside the city. "We are deeply grateful for all contributions," Bourn stated.

When the beach is opened, Red Cross officials plan to conduct swimming lessons for area children.

Prompt Use
The beach area has already been initiated by early swimmers. Several hundred people drove to Sandy Beach Sunday to inspect progress and take a refreshing dip.

Project officials warn that the beach is not officially open. There are no regular lifeguards on duty. The bath house is not completed, nor is sufficient sand out into the water as yet.

Steel Giant Slugs It Out In Market

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Once a slumbering giant loath to make changes, the American steel industry now is slugging it out in the market place with all the technical know-how at its command.

The industry is going through a revolution forced upon it by competition from foreign steel producers, competition from other materials, rising costs and government intervention.

The year 1962 was the turning point. Faced with dwindling profits, mounting costs and fierce competition, steelmakers attempted to hike prices — as they usually did when profits fell.

The late President John F. Kennedy forced the industry to back down and rescind its price increase. The industry had to look to research and modernization.

The only hope, steelmen concluded, lay in technological advances — new ways to produce better steel cheaper.

The industry channeled billions of dollars into capital expenditures to revamp the steel-making process. The revolution touched every part of the industry — from the mines to the mills.

Probably the most significant innovation was the basic oxygen furnace, developed in Europe years ago but long ignored by American producers.

Today, basic oxygen furnaces rapidly are replacing the old open hearths. By injecting oxygen at tremendous pressure into the furnace, steel can be produced in 40 minutes instead of the six to 10 hours in the open hearth.

With changes in production methods went development of new products and new markets to combat inroads on steel markets made by plastics, aluminum and concrete.

As an example, U.S. Steel Corp., the No. 1 producer, alone is investigating 1,300 basic and applied research projects ranging from the development of superstrength steels for deep sea research to the best application of steel for service station canopies.

"From raw materials to finished products — from the heart of the iron atom to surface coatings — the search is unrelenting," says U.S. Steel President Leslie B. Worthington.

In 1964, the industry set records in domestic consumption, shipments, production and capital spending.

Records were again set last year. But labor costs spiraled and steel imports poured into the country at a record clip.

Profits failed to keep pace despite the record $13 billion spent on new plans and equipment between 1955 and 1965.

Since 1957, the industry's profit margin fell from 17th to 37th among the 40 leading manufacturing industries. The mills aren't losing money, but steelmen complain profit returns are low compared to heavy investments.

"Profit margins are far from being satisfactory," says one Pittsburgh-based steelmaker. "We've got to show a profit to the stockholders whose money we're using."

Steelmen say there are three ways to boost profits: increase production, increase prices or implement technology.

Most mills already are operating at or near capacity.

Prices? A touchy matter for steelmen, still smarting from the Kennedy rollback and mindful of President Johnson's wage-price guidelines.

Reminder To Faisal

President Johnson properly accorded full honors to King Faisal of Saudi Arabia during his visit to Washington. The king was here as his guest. Moreover, Faisal's potential influence as a friend of this country in the troubled Middle East is worth cultivating as a matter of national interest.

By the same token, Ambassador Goldberg was well advised to swallow personal distaste and attend a luncheon given in Faisal's honor by Secretary General U Thant of the United Nations. Ambassador Goldberg was there as the official representative of the United States. Though he is a Jew, and though King Faisal had outraged U.S. Jews by saying he regarded them as his enemies because of their support for Israel, Goldberg's role as our chief U.N. spokesman was rightly given precedence over his own feelings toward the king.

Having said this, one can say additionally that Mayor Lindsay of New York City and Governor Rockefeller of New York state were not off base in giving Faisal an official brushoff. This was good politics, in a city and state with a heavy Jewish population. But it was more than politics. Their refusal to entertain the king was a well deserved reminder that official guests of this country ought to have the common courtesy not to insult its citizens while they are here. Faisal may not have been much disturbed, but let us hope that he and others got the point.

Anti-Malaria Progress

It is not widely known, but nonetheless important, that American forces in Vietnam are given almost as much trouble by malaria as by the Viet Cong. Doctors estimate that one of every 20 men stationed in Vietnam is likely to be stricken by this debilitating ailment at some time in the course of the one-year tour of duty.

During 1965, more than 63,000 man-days were lost among U.S. troops there, with 1,801 men suffering from the disease. That is a significant item in the manpower budget, and might be expected to increase as the military buildup continues.

Happily, the prospect is for a sharp cutback in the number of malaria cases. The surgeon general's office reports that diamino-diphenylsulfone, a drug commonly used in treating leprosy, is effective against a strain of malaria physicians have thus far been almost helpless to prevent. In field tests, the drug was found to halve the incidence of malaria.

As a spokesman for the surgeon general's office in Washington has said, "we certainly haven't whipped this thing yet." Even half of the present incidence of malaria among our men stationed in Vietnam is a serious medical problem. But it is good to know that notable progress is being made against the disease.

Washington Record Refutes Charge of U.S. 'White Foreign Policy'

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some Negro militants are arguing these days that American foreign policy is basically geared to the defense of the white nations against the interests of a predominantly non-white world.

Certain leaders of CORE and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNICK) appear particularly attached to this theory. Obviously, the idea takes them well beyond specific criticism of our participation in the Viet Nam war, though that fits in. Stokely Carmichael of SNICK calls U.S. operations in Viet Nam a "war against colored people."

The general proposition that we are pursuing some sort of segregationist foreign policy ought to be examined. First, if we are doing this, it seems to be singularly unappealing to some of the white nations we are supposed to be saving from the black man and the yellow man.

France disapproves of our Viet Nam policies. Though Britain supports us, powerful dissident elements speak out. Many other Western lands voice doubts of one sort or another. Hundreds of millions of white people living under communism hardly seem in support of our "white foreign policy."

It can be stated with fresh authority that a high proportion of the leadership in newly independent black African nations does not see U.S. policy as "anticoiled," no matter how seriously they may disagree with it on many counts.

Sources in touch with some of these leaders say this is an aspect of American policy which seldom if ever occurs to them. As for Asia, countries like the Philippines, Thailand, Malaysia, even allegedly neutral Laos, see us not as enemies but as friends and allies. We are the defenders of the millions of Koreans, island Chinese and Vietnamese who do not want to live under Communism.

Neutral India and Burma and demobilized Japan see our role in Asia in a less friendly light. Yet all would turn inevitably to us and any supporting white and colored allies we could muster if their borders were seriously breached by foreign assault.

Only India, exhibiting a curious self-deception, likes to pretend that this would not be so. The foreign policy some CORE and SNICK leaders say is "anticoiled" has drawn the United States into war on Asian soil twice since World War II—in Korea and Viet Nam. In both instances, the initiators were Asiatic Communist bent on conquest of fellow Asians.

We have undertaken no combat against black African nations. In the course of the present war, as in Korea, we are killing many Asiatic people. But so, in large number, are the Asiatic aggressors.

It is useful, in fact, to note what nonwhites have been doing to nonwhites in the last few decades. In World War II, the Japanese killed or wounded more than 3 million Chinese, plus untold numbers of Southeast Asians. In Korea, Communist forces killed 45,000 South Koreans in combat and accounted for a good proportion of the 400,000 civilian dead. Their reward was to see 4 million North Koreans, half the country's population, flee to South Korea. We, standing at the border, are their guardians. In the first Indochina war, begun by North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh, 250,000 Vietnamese civilians died along with thousands of anti-Red soldiers. Then there is the recent incredible horror which saw Indonesians massacre perhaps as many as 500,000 Indonesians and Chinese in less than four months.

We may have much to learn and much more to do if we are to understand and give effective help to Asians, Africans and other nonwhite peoples. But it would hardly seem, from history's record, that it is we who hold their lives and their interests cheaply.

Boyle Sets Down Rules For Long, Happy Life

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — A columnist counts that year lost in which he doesn't write at least one article telling young people how to live.

The trouble with most advice of this kind is that it consists of high-sounding platitudes. It isn't specific enough.

So, as my good deed for 1966, here are a series of down-to-earth suggestions that should help any young man live a longer and happier life.

Never marry a girl for her money unless she signs half of it over to you before the ceremony.

Try to associate with people who have qualities you admire. But also keep one bum as a friend, too. Seeing the mistakes he makes should help keep you from making them yourself. Always keep your seat belt buckled while riding in airplanes or automobiles.

If you're not a "take-charge" type, don't go into business for yourself. You'll do better working for others.

Eat a good breakfast, a light lunch and a light dinner. Don't put up with bad meals. Insist that your wife learn to be a really good cook. It'll make you both happier.

Don't go skiing after 30, or play tennis after 40, unless you can run a mile without exhaustion.

Buy shoes and shirts a half size larger than you need. You may be choking your mind and feet to death without knowing it.

If you have to take aspirin more than once a month, change your way of living.

Make your vacations real adventures. Avoid going to the same place more than two years in a row.

If your boss or your job make you desperately unhappy, change them both — but better do it before you are 35.

Ask for a raise in pay once a year, whether you need it or not, whether you get it or not. Unless you yourself think you are worth more to the firm, the firm won't either.

Listen carefully when anyone offers to give you an inside tip on the stock market, and write it down. Then tear up the paper, and forget it.

Walk three miles every day if it isn't raining, and two miles when it is.

See a sunrise and read a poem at least once every week as long as you live.

If you can't tell your wife you love her when you come home tired from the office, tell her at breakfast the next morning. Sometimes that takes even more character.

Never buy more than three things at one time on the installment plan.

This advice, faithfully followed, may not make a young man a millionaire. But at least it should help keep him out of jail or the poorhouse. That's about all you can expect from free advice.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
AP New Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Communist party, U.S.A., this month held its first convention since 1959. It was a pitiful sight in more ways than one.

This in turn raises questions about the so-called new left which is supposed to be developing in this country, although not connected with communism which is said to look out of date to the new radicals.

Congress, courts, FBI and changing times made a wreck of the American Communist party. It claims a membership of 10,000 to 12,000, way down from the 80,000 to 100,000 it claimed in depression days 30 years or so ago.

In a way the New York convention looked a little like an old folks' home. The 213 delegates and 42 alternates from 36 states were mostly up in years and had been in the party for years.

Many got bored and walked out the opening night when Gus Hall, the general secretary, hit them with a three-hour speech. Hall, 55, has been a party member most of his life.

Communication

Dear Sir:

I would be most grateful if you would publish this letter, as it would offer me the opportunity to express my sincere gratitude to the community of Jacksonville for providing me with such a wonderful year in the United States, and specifically in your city. I have really appreciated the sincere hospitality I have enjoyed from all the people of the city I have met, and shall never forget you all. There is of course one family I shall never forget, or ever be able to thank enough for all they have done for me as a member of their wonderful family—the Applebees.

This past year has been the most enjoyable of my life, and one I'm sure I shall never forget. I am sure the future American Field Service students to Jacksonville will enjoy themselves as much as I did. I don't think anyone could wish for a more friendly and hospitable community.

Thank you all very much for accepting me as a member of the community, I hope I will be able to return to Jacksonville as soon as possible. My only regret is that the year has passed so quickly, and has now come to an end.

Hoping to be able to return again someday,
Yours sincerely,

THE DOCTOR SAYS

10 Minutes of Exposure
Provides Needed Vitamin D

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—What are the symptoms of vitamin D poisoning? Could cod liver oil cause hardening of the arteries?

A—Excessive amounts of vitamin D cause a loss of appetite, apathy, nausea, weakness, headache and a great thirst. The preferred treatment is disodium or dipotassium phosphate. Autopsy on some of those who have died of this disease showed severe hardening of the arteries and it is reasonable to believe that a cause and effect relationship existed in these cases. The daily requirement of this vitamin is 400 units but you can get this with 10 minutes of exposure of a small area of your skin to direct sunlight daily.

Q—Is vitamin A good for the eyes? What vitamins benefit arthritis?

A—Vitamin A is necessary for good vision, especially at night. There is no vitamin or any other dietary component that will specifically help your arthritis.

Q—I read recently that vitamin B-6 does wonders for various ailments. Is this so? Has the need for calcium pantothenate in human nutrition been firmly established?

A—Vitamin B-6 (pyridoxine) is found in meat and whole grain cereals. It is important for the health of your teeth, gums, blood vessels, red blood cells and nervous system. It works wonders for anyone who, through a faulty diet, has developed a deficiency of this vitamin.

The need for pantothenic acid or its calcium salt (also a part of the vitamin B complex) in making the adrenal hormones, is producing antibodies and in the health of the nervous system has been firmly established.

Q—What is nicotinic acid good for? Is it a vitamin? Is it safe to take it for a long time?

A—Nicotin or nicotinic acid is a part of the vitamin B complex. It is needed in the transformation of food into energy and in the prevention of pellagra. It has also been used in large doses to reduce the blood cholesterol level. It can be taken safely for an indefinite period.

Q—What was the Keely cure for alcoholics? Was it effective?

A—The alcoholic voluntarily entered one of the Keely Institutes (founded in 1879) where he was free to come and go at will. The stay was usually two or four weeks. Although moderate cigar and pipe smoking were allowed, cigarettes were forbidden. Coffee drinking was limited. Various drugs were used; exercise was encouraged and counselling was given.

Although many alcoholics underwent a remarkable rehabilitation at the institutes, there were relapses. The institutes did, however, wage a successful battle to promote the idea, now widely accepted, that alcoholism is a disease. The last of these institutes closed its doors in June of this year.

Grill Ham, Pineapple Tropical Style

PINEAPPLE AND HAM is a natural delight.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
When the man of your house gets that charcoal look in his eyes, hint (but of course never suggest) that he just might like to try something a bit exotic. Then lay this recipe on the table and quickly walk out of the room.

The result—you and he and your guests will thoroughly enjoy these Polynesian pineapple 'n' ham packages grilled over hot coals.

Polynesian Pineapple 'n' Ham Packages
Serves 6

1 center cut ham slice (1½ inches thick)
1 (1-pound 4½ ounce) can pineapple slices
1-3 cup rum or (¼ cup orange juice and 1 tablespoon lemon juice)
1 tablespoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon powdered ginger
2 tablespoons brown sugar

1 tablespoon butter
2 (1-pound) cans yams
Trim fat from ham. Brown ham lightly on both sides on grill over hot coals. Blend ½ cup syrup drained from pineapple with rum, mustard, ginger, brown sugar and butter. Heat in smallpan on grill. Place ham slice in center of large piece of heavy foil. Foil should be large enough to enclose ham, pineapple and yams with a little free space for steam to gather.

Fold up edges and pour in warm rum syrup. Seal package with drugstore fold. Grill about 8 inches above coals, turning every 15 minutes, for 45 minutes.

Open packet: arrange drained pineapple slices and yams around and over ham. Spoon sauce over all to moisten. Close foil loosely and continue grilling 10 minutes longer; open packet and grill another 5 minutes until heated through.

We, the Women The New Line on Legs

By RUTH MILLETT
Memo to men:

If you see your wife gathering together a jar of lotion, of cream, shadow powder and rosy rouge, don't assume that she's getting ready to put on her face.

It could be she's getting ready to put on her legs. With skirts above the knees, cosmetic companies are racing to turn out all kinds of cosmetics to beautify milady's legs.

The woman who takes an hour to put on her face from make-up base to false eye-lashes is being told to spend at least that much time on her legs.

It's no longer enough for a woman's legs to be smooth and sun-tanned . . . not any more. Now there's leg make-up to be applied from mid-high to the tips of the toes. After that comes shadow powder to fool the eye and make a leg look shapelier than nature designed it, or to make it look longer than it actually is.

And the final touch is knee rouge to give the knees a rosy glow. Then and only then is a woman ready to pull on her nylon.

Why am I telling you men all this? For three good reasons.

The first is so that you won't be surprised if there are a lot more jars and bottles on your wife's dressing table than there were only a few months ago, or if she seems to be spending more money for cosmetics.

The second is so that you'll understand why it may be taking her so much longer to get ready to go out than it used to.

And the third reason is to warn you not to be surprised if a line of leg make-up is the next thing in store for men.

After all, a man's legs are exposed in walking shorts as a woman's are in a short, short skirt. And you'll have to admit that they aren't nearly as good looking to start with.

Vignettes From The Press

Bacon Anyone?

There was a time when, to prove he was a big shot, a fellow had to buy a big, flashy car or a sprawling ranch bungalow. Now all he has to do is to stand by the meat counter and pretend the prices don't upset him. (Port Arthur (Ont.) Chronicle)

Concerned With Image of Unwed Father

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I know you receive many letters from unwed mothers because you have printed them. Why don't you ever publish a letter from an unwed father?

You, Ann Landers, have done more to damage the image of the unwed father than anyone in this country and I resent it. My son is a lovely young man, just 19 years of age, and every time you print a letter from an unwed mother he shows it to me and says, "Why doesn't Ann Landers ever say anything good about US—we have a slice, too."

Are you so blind that you don't realize some girls run after boys, pester them, get them full of liquor and then offer themselves in such a way that no male could refuse? This is exactly what happened to my son, and to some of his fine friends, too. Yet the boy always gets called the terrible names and ends up with a black eye. I dare you to print this. —MOTHER OF A GOOD SON

Dear Mother: I have yet to hear from an unwed mother who wouldn't cheerfully take the black eye in exchange for what "she" gets left with. "Sorry that I don't have any good conduct medals lying around for the unwed fathers. And I don't have any advice for them, either. They don't need my list of maternity homes. They can go right on living as they always have—continuing at their jobs or remaining in school.

Unfortunately, when a foolish young couple decides to "Have fun now — Pay later," it's the female who does the paying.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a salesman in a large department store. Like most salesmen of major items (furniture, rugs, jewelry, refrigerators, stoves, etc.) I work on commission.

Last week I spent the better part of two days with three couples. They asked dozens of questions, which I was happy to answer. That's what I'm here for. I gave them my card and said if they decided to buy I'd be happy to help them.

At the end of the week I followed up by telephoning these couples and all three told me they had been in the store and bought the item from someone

Greater Jacksonville
Park District Meeting

The recommended boundary of the proposed park district will be considered by the members of the citizens committee on the park district Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the council chambers of city hall.

John Linebaugh, temporary chairman, said Tuesday that the 30-member committee is scheduled to meet and confirm the boundaries and also elect officers.
The committee, formed several months ago, at their last meeting ironed-out disputes concerning the boundary, and named a nominating committee to select potential officers.
If the committee approves the boundaries of the proposed Greater Jacksonville Park District, petitions will be circulated and then be submitted to the circuit court.

The judge will then have not less than 30 days, nor more than 100 days to rule on the validity of the petitions.

If there is no objection to the petitions, the judge will then set a date for an election, at which time all qualified voters residing in the park district will have the opportunity to vote on the issue.

Rowe Declares
'No Favors
Please' In Race

Harris Rowe, Republican Candidate for State Treasurer, speaking to the Republican County Convention following his re-election as Chairman of the Morgan County Republican Central Committee, took immediate exception to his opponent's statements of Sunday.

In this speech Adlai E. Stevenson III said: "If some of the candidates on the other side don't stop telling lies about me, I'll start telling the ugly truth about them."

Rowe told his audience of a quotation from Abraham Lincoln during the campaign of 1836, when he answered a Democrat candidate who "allowed he could tell a few things about Abe Lincoln, only it would not be fair to tell them." Lincoln's position was: "No one has needed favors more than I . . . but in this case favor to me would be injustice to the public, and therefore I must beg your pardon for declining it."

"I am in the same position," stated Rowe in replying to Stevenson's charge. "I decline to accept Mr. Stevenson's favor, and I believe that both he and all candidates should tell the truth, be it ugly or otherwise, and this is just exactly what I intend to do during the entire campaign. 'I consider the Treasurer's office a high and important office, and I would be happy to match the records of Republican as against Democrat State Treasurers in the months ahead.'"

In campaign speeches Rowe has quoted a Washington, D.C. news column which had Adlai saying: "I decided to try for this dreadfully dull business of being Treasurer."

Polly's Pointers One Idea Brings Another

By POLLY CRAMER
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
DEAR POLLY — My nine-foot picture window requires three pairs of draperies. I buy transparent tape that is sticky on both sides and place it at the back edge of a panel, the full length, and then overlap the side hem of the next drapery panel. There are no gaps. Being transparent the tape cannot be seen. I like this better than the pins (which I used to use) and which were suggested by one of the readers. —MRS. G. R. W.
DEAR GIRLS — One good idea often brings forth another. No two like to do everything the same way, so we can take our choice. —POLLY
DEAR POLLY — To have a convenient place to hang Venetian blinds after they have been washed, drive two six-inch spikes into the wood on the outer side of the basement stairwell so they are at about eye level when standing on one of the lower steps. After the blinds have dripped a while it is very easy to reach all the slats to dry them by merely going up and down a couple of steps. —ALICE

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY — Does anyone know of anything that will keep a rocking chair from "walking"? —CAROL
DEAR POLLY — My husband always picks out the black walnuts that I often use in cakes and candy. He puts the picked-out nut meats in a colander and shakes them around to sift out the fine bits of shell. This makes it easier to pick over the nut meats to be sure all the bits of shell are removed. —RETA
DEAR POLLY — My elderly mother kept misplacing her identification cards so I typed the information on a card, covered it with plastic wrap, made a nylon net bag into which I put the card and hand-stitched the bag to the lining of her purse. —MRS. A. M. G.

DEAR POLLY — My children are in kindergarten, first grade and second grade and cannot read notes left for them. When I have to leave home to go on an errand and know I cannot get back before they come home, I tie a red handkerchief to the door handle. This means they are to go down the road to a neighbor's (the same one always). When I will be back shortly I tie a white handkerchief to the handle and they know they are to wait on the porch until I return. Of course, this is just for emergencies. —PATRICIA
DEAR POLLY — For people who paint number pictures, I find that if you hold a magnifying glass in the left hand and the paint brush in the right, one can paint much faster and keep within the squares much better. —MRS. S. T. Sr.

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

Opening lead—A K

Jim: "I'm going to comment on all the bidding. The opening heart bid and two diamonds response are standard. So is North's immediate diamond raise but I am afraid that those pairs that missed the slam did so because North decided to re-bid his five-card heart suit instead of raising his partner's diamonds. After that immediate raise South was very slam minded. He might have gone the Blackwood route but he decided to show his ace of spades. North went to three no-trump. He did not know if his partner was aiming for no-trump or a diamond slam but he did have a club stopper. When South took out the no-trump into four diamonds, North knew that South was heading for a slam and showed his ace of clubs."

Oswald: "South might have tried for seven but he remembered that North had merely bid three no-trump at his previous turn to bid so South settled for the small slam."

Jim: "It is interesting to note that North never bothered to re-bid his five-card heart suit. Instead he chose to raise diamonds, bid three no-trump and cue-bid his ace of clubs."

Oswald: "There were lots of ways to play the hand also. South decided to duck the first spade. He won the second. Played two rounds of trumps and ruffed a spade. He came back to his hand with the king of clubs, drew the last trump and claimed the balance."

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♦	Pass	1♥
Pass	2♦	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
A 2 ♥ K 8 4 ♦ Q 3 2 ♠ A 10 8 6

What do you do?
A—Pass. Your hand is just above a minimum and your partner has really made only one bid. In other words his first bid showed at least six or seven points and his second merely told you that he had heart support.

TODAY'S QUESTION
You pass two hearts. West bids two spades and your partner doubles. What do you do now?

DOG TAG—There's no mistaking the breed of the dogs in this Yankee Kennels' station wagon from East Poland, Maine. Their state allows six letters on auto license plates and these six are very appropriate.

4-F Man Seeks To Take Place Of Reluctant GI

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — He was 4F and had only $3 in the pockets of his borrowed uniform when he arrived to join the war. But David Stucki never got a crack at the Viet Cong.

The San Francisco computer operator waited today for the long flight back home. He had been discovered as an impostor with his crusade hardly underway.

"I wanted to join the Army," Stucki, 21, said. "It's something I lacked. I wanted to fight here."

So he changed places with a soldier he met at a party in San Francisco a week ago. The GI was back home on emergency leave from Viet Nam and wanted a hardship discharge because of family problems but was due to return in a few hours.

Stucki, whose own military ambitions had been thwarted by a physical disability, seized the opportunity.

"We decided suddenly to change clothes and I would take his place," Stucki said. He refused to identify the soldier, a private first class.

He took the soldier's travel orders and Army identification papers and before the sun rose again over the Golden Gate was aboard a military transport winging toward Viet Nam from Travis Air Force Base.

Stucki debarked at Saigon still undetected and made his way to the soldier's engineer battalion, but there the ruse ended. The battalion's noncoms spotted the fake PIC, and Stucki was hustled back to Saigon.

U.S. consular officials said they were trying to reach his father, Dr. Virgil Stucki, a dentist in Lafayette, Calif., to pay for his errant son's passage home.

Back in San Francisco, Stucki's boss expressed astonishment at his employee's sudden emergence 5,000 miles away. Roland Waal, manager of the computer operations at the University of California's Medical Center, said: "He was working the night shift and was due on again Monday midnight. When we came in Tuesday morning and saw no work had been done, we were thoroughly alarmed and suspected foul play."

Stucki had been on the job about two months without giving any hint of wanting to go off to war. "A nice, competent, blond and rather tall young man," said Waal. "He just looked like an average American."

An Army spokesman in San Francisco took a serious view of the matter. He said that if Stucki's story about borrowing the uniform and credentials is true, "God help that unnamed soldier."

Viet Nam Village Boasts Bunny Club

By BOB POOS

AN KHE, South Viet Nam (AP) — The village of An Khe in the central Vietnamese highlands boasts a bunny club but most of its bunnies are destined for the frying pan rather than for magazine pinups.

The hut honeyeaters are rabbits with four legs and fur, and membership in the bunny clubs costs not a cent, or, in Viet Nam, not a piaster.

The idea, conceived by Capt. Donald Savage of Augusta, Ga., is to establish a rabbit industry in the An Khe area to supplement the incomes and victuals of thousands of refugees. They have poured into An Khe with few belongings and little else other than hope for a better future. Savage proudly refers to it as "my hare-brained scheme."

A member of the U.S. Army's 41st Civil Affairs Team, Savage first tried starting a pig program but found the litter didn't come fast enough. Then he came up with the scheme for the bunny clubs — rabbits produce a family in about 28 days, as often as four times a year.

Savage enlisted the aid of Father Ngoc, an influential Roman Catholic priest in the area, and found 11 families willing to invest about $1 (or 118 piasters) each to purchase one male and two female rabbits.

Savage gets half the first litter and a fourth of the second.

Then the Vietnamese family will do the same thing with another family and so on, an ever widening program.

By cross breeding and continued expansion of the program, Savage believes he will develop a healthy strain of domestic rabbits and make a vital contribution to the war-shattered economy of the area.

"It's going to be a real great thing," when it all gets going right," he said. "These rabbits will give these people a sense of ownership and when the program starts producing a large number of rabbits it will be a very important supplement to the local diet."

Civil Affairs officials are hopeful the bunny clubs will spread to other towns and villages in central Viet Nam and throughout the entire country.

Killer Whale Namu Big Crowd Pleaser

By DALE NELSON
SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — from which the whale would take his name—Namu, B.C. When Edward I. Griffin talked to a high school class studying Herman Melville's "Moby-Dick," he summed up his lecture, starred in a movie, been a year ago. To arrive at the weight of a whale, you measure the girth at strategic points and then calculate the water displacement. When Namu got up to six tons a few months ago, its diet was cut from 400 pounds of salmon a day to 325 pounds. Killer whales enter Puget Sound when the salmon are running, and anyone seeing one is asked to telephone the aquarium collect. Griffin wants a mate for Namu.

him towed here in a pen. At the aquarium on Elliott Bay, Namu puts on five shows a day, alternating with a trained seal act. His biggest crowd-pleaser is a turn in which he leaps from the water for a salmon which Griffin dangles from a tower. The whale's owner, wearing a plastic suit, also goes bareback riding on his whale. Namu spent the winter behind a submarine net in Rich Cove, across Puget Sound, where scenes were shot for the movie, "Namu the Killer Whale."

Dwarf's Acting Ability Transcends Lack Of Height

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Pounding for-pound and inch for inch, Michael Dunn may well be the smartest man in the world. But undoubtedly he is the most successful dwarf in show business since the late Tom Thumb.

Michael is 31, weighs 78, stands 3 feet and 10 inches in his stockings, and has an intelligence quotient of 178.

"Theoretically, I'm a genius," said Michael, peering owlishly through thick-lensed glasses over a plate of parsley at his favorite Broadway saloon.

"Being a so-called genius doesn't mean you can do anything. But it is of some help to anyone. It makes your mind more fun."

For his role as the philosophic traveler in "Ship of Fools," Dunn became the first fellow his size ever to be nominated for an Academy Award. He recently completed work on a second film, and has two more lined up.

Also in the works are a Broadway play and a television series of his own in which he plays a detective who is "more cerebral than muscular."

"I'm not a professional midge. I'm an actor," carefully pointed out Michael, whose theater pals call him "Gremlin" and "the Purple Avenger."

"There's a difference. A midge gets carried onstage in a basket, pops out, says a funny line and runs off. I don't think that takes much talent."

"My lack of height is incidental. It would be foolish to say that people don't notice it, but I transcend it."

"Most stage parts for midgets or dwarfs are pratfalls. But now they are writing me real roles."

Michael suffers from achondroplasia, a congenital but not hereditary disease also known as fetal rickets, in which cartilage fails to develop properly.

"I knew by the time I was 3 or 4 that I would always be small," he said matter of factly. "But my mind gave me a good edge."

"I never got hung up emotionally because my parents wisely let me do what I wanted to as a child. They didn't overprotect me. If they had, I'd have turned out to be a pretty sour character.

"I played football and basketball and got my nose broken a few times. I'm still a good swimmer and a very dirty water polo player."

Unable to achieve a career as a concert pianist, he started singing in night clubs at $5 an evening; now on occasion makes $2,000 for a single television performance.

Using special rigs, Dunn is able to drive a car or fly an airplane. He is cheerful and light-hearted about being a small man in a tall world.

Terrell Defends Title On Unanimous Decision

Loses Two Rounds On Low Blows

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Ernie Terrell successfully defended his World Boxing Association heavyweight championship against Doug Jones Tuesday night although losing two rounds for low blows. He won a unanimous 15-round decision in the second defense of his crown.

The 209½-pound Terrell used superior reach and height to keep Jones away, meanwhile using his left jab to slam his 22-pound lighter opponent around the ring on a half-dozen occasions. In the last few rounds Terrell resorted to much clinching and the crowd of 8,000 booed him lustily for it.

Judge Chris Jordan scored it 146-141 for Terrell under the 10-round must system. Judge Max Rush scored it 146-141 Terrell and referee Ernie Taylor, who twice took two points away from Terrell for low blows, had it 145-140.

Ironically it was Terrell's best round where he lost the first two points. This was in the second when Terrell drove Jones into a corner with a left jab and strong right to the body.

Torre Slugs Braves To 4-2 Edge Over Cubs

ATLANTA (AP) — Joe Torre drove in three runs with a single and his 17th home run, leading the Atlanta Braves to 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday night.

Torre's two key hits represented half the Braves' total against rookie Ken Holtzman, who suffered his eighth loss in 11 decisions. It was the eighth defeat for the Cubs in their last 10 games.

Both Little League contests Tuesday evening turned into runaways, with the Cards blasting the Dodgers, 16-3, and the Tigers bombing the Red Sox, 13-4.

Veale Pitches Pirates To 4-3 Win Over Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Run-scoring singles by Roberto Clemente and Jose Pagan in the fifth inning lifted the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros Tuesday night.

The two fifth-inning runs overcame a 3-2 Houston lead and sent left-hander Bob Veale to his ninth victory in 14 decisions.

Veale gave up eight hits but blanked the Astros over the last six innings.

Matty Alou touched off the fifth inning rally with a one-out single and Gene Alley pitched. Clemente singled to right, scoring Alou, and after Willie Stargell struck out, Pagan delivered the lead run with a single to center.

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — This town of 23,000 in the foothills of the Appalachians plays host this week to the biggest women's track meet of all.

The National AAU women's and girls' outdoor track and field championships, a three-day carnival attracting almost 500 entrants, gets under way Thursday.

The mammoth entry list includes 90 girls in the 100-yard dash, where 12 heats will be run.

But there will be quality as well as quantity, with eight entries in the women's division back to defend titles they won last year at Columbus, Ohio.

Heading the list of defending champions are Olympic sprint stars Wyomia Tyus and Edith McGuire of Tennessee State. Miss Tyus won the 100-yard dash in 10.5 seconds last year and Miss McGuire the 220 in 23.6.

The first two finishers in each women's event will be eligible for the United States team which will face the Polish girls in Berkeley, Calif., July 16-17, and the Russians July 23-24 in Los Angeles.

Nobody's Laughing At Astros

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nobody's laughing at the Houston Astros anymore.

The Astros, who like the New York Mets were the butt of jokes for four years, have achieved a measure of respectability this season that has so far escaped their expansion twins.

Manager Grady Hatton, in his first year, had a ready explanation for the Astros' fourth-place standing. The only trouble is, he's not sure he knows the formula to keep him there.

"John Bateman and Sonny Jackson," Hatton said Tuesday, are the reasons for our success. They have given us the strength we needed up the middle to go with Joe Morgan and Jim Wynn."

Shortstop Jackson, a prime candidate for top rookie honors, took a .289 batting average into Tuesday night's game against the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Bateman, the catcher, is batting more than 90 points above his career average of .202. Despite a recent slump, he's at .293.

They have teamed with Morgan, the National League All-Star second baseman, and center fielder Wynn to provide Houston with a big-league middle.

The pitching staff is young, but so far has been dependable. Most surprising is Mike Cuellar, a 29-year-old journeyman whose major league career record was 6-9 before this season. He has a 6-0 mark now and set a Houston club strikeout record last week with 15 against St. Louis.

The Astros, who won between 64 and 66 games in each of their four previous seasons, are almost three weeks ahead of their 1965 victory pace. Hatton thinks they just could hang in there.

City Power And Virginia Legion In Game Tonight

The Jacksonville City Power team of the Little Eight League will entertain the Virginia American Legion outfit, in an 8:15 contest tonight at Nichols Park.

The Virginia team, composed of mainly high school players from Virginia, Chantleville and Ashland, currently has a 7-1 record. The Jacksonville squad is 3-1 in the tough Little Eight league, 5-2 overall this summer.

The public is invited at no charge.

Pony-Colt League

Strikeouts were the high note of Pony, Colt League action at Nichols Park Tuesday evening, as John Ellis protected his Pony League lead with a 5-3 victory over Hertzberg, and Jaycees knocked off Kiwanis, 10-2.

Paul Mosley tossed a two-hitter at Hertzberg, fanning 11 batters. The winners got only two safeties off Mike Way, but turned an error-filled four-run first inning into victory and a 10-2 record to Byers Brothers' 8-2 slate.

Tom Jordan gave up only two hits in twirling Jaycees to victory, whiffing 13 batters in the seven innings. Losing hurler Jerry Lowe also fanned 13 batters, but gave up four hits.

Criticizes Cost Of State's Bid To Get Baseball

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The legal battle to restore major league baseball to Wisconsin has already cost Wisconsin $125,000, it was disclosed Tuesday at a legislative hearing.

A ranking state senator criticized the cost, and said he doubted that the fight would be successful.

"It's almost like a waste of state money," said Sen. Walter Hollander, R-Rosendale, co-chairman of the legislature's joint finance committee.

Rep. Arlen Christenson told the Board of Government operations fees and expenses for special legal counsel in the antitrust suit had reached $75,740 so far.

He estimated another $50,000 in costs for expert witnesses and other expenses.

The National League and its 10 clubs were convicted in April of violating state antitrust law by allowing the shift of the Braves to Atlanta without providing Milwaukee with a new franchise. An appeal is now being studied by the state Supreme Court.

The Braves are under Circuit Court order to return to Milwaukee unless a 1967 expansion team is granted to the city, but the judgement has been suspended pending the appeal.

The state's highest court is expected to hand down soon a decision on the appeal.

Surging Twins Cops 4th In Row On 5-0 Triumph

ST. PAUL, MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Camilo Pascual and Al Worthington combined for a six-hitter Tuesday night as the Minnesota Twins blanked Cleveland 5-0 for their fourth successive victory.

Pascual, 8-5, who had failed to complete his previous 10 starts since May 16, allowed four hits through seven innings. However, his arm stiffened in the seventh and he was replaced by Worthington, who finished up.

Minnesota scored twice in the first inning off Cleveland starter John O'Donoghue. Zoilo Versalles singled and Cesar Tovar tripled for one run. Harmon Killebrew then doubled to score Tony Oliva, who had reached base on a fielder's choice.

Oliva slammed his 15th home run, leading off the sixth, and after a walk and single, Max Alvis' error let in another Twins run.

STUART GETS VOTE
NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Stuart, the high-priced first baseman who was given his unconditional release by the New York Mets earlier this month, received one vote for the National League All-Star team.

ATLANTA'S HENRY AARON, the National League leader, is producing home runs at a record rate so far this year.

Bunning, White Lift Phillies Past Mets, 1-0

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill White's seventh-inning home run broke up a scoreless battle and gave Jim Bunning and the Philadelphia Phillies a 1-0 victory over Bob Friend and the New York Mets in a duel of two-hitters Tuesday night.

White's 13th homer of the season sailed over the right center field wall with two out in the seventh, and Bunning protected the margin for his ninth victory of the season against four losses.

Bunning, who pitched a perfect game against the Mets in New York two years ago, struck out eight, including four in a row at one stretch. He retired 12 of the last 13 batters he faced.

Ellis And Reds Continue Hot Streak, Win 3-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sammy Ellis scattered five hits as the surging Cincinnati Reds downed Los Angeles 3-1 Tuesday night for their 10th victory in the last 11 games.

Tommy Harper led the Reds' attack with a homer and two singles as Ellis won his third straight and fifth in 16 decisions this year.

The Dodgers scored in the first inning when Maury Wills led off with a single, stole second and scored on Willie Davis' sacrifice fly after advancing on a fielder's choice.

Harper scored the tying run in the Reds' half of the inning. He led off with a single off Claude Osteen, advanced on Vada Pinson's walk and crossed the plate when Tony Perez smashed a double to right center. Pinson scored on Deron Johnson's sacrifice fly.

Harper's lead-off home run in the seventh gave the Reds their final run.

CHICAGO (AP) — Don Lock's three-run homer in the first inning and a solo blast by pitcher Mike McCormick helped the Washington Senators to a 4-1 triumph over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night.

McCormick, posting his fifth victory against seven losses, scattered five hits as the Senators recorded their first success against Chicago this season after six straight defeats.

Drysdale And Santana Reach Semi-Finals

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Manuel Santana, Spain's darling of the Wimbledon tennis aficionados, and the handsome South African, Cliff Drysdale, reached the semifinals of the Wimbledon men's singles Tuesday and braced themselves to break the 11-year hold Americans and Australians have had on the world's premier tennis title.

Santana, the reigning U.S. champion and seeded fourth here, used his racket like a flashing katana's sword to defeat Ken Fletcher, the happy go lucky Australian in a 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 4-7 thriller that turned out the best singles played here this year.

Drysdale, seeded seventh and a losing semifinalist last year, was the surprise 9-7, 6-2, 6-2 winner over Tony Roche, the left-handed Australian who had won the French and Italian titles earlier this year.

In the semifinals Wednesday, Santana plays Owen Davidson, the unseeded Australian who beat Roy Emerson Monday after the champion hurt his shoulder in a fall, while Drysdale plays Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., the sixth seed and the other losing semifinalist last year.

Seeds Hold
The women's bracket turned out exactly as the seeding committee predicted it would. The first four seeds all got through their quarter-final round tests — three of them with ease.

Margaret Smith of Australia, defending champion, and Maria Bueno, the second seed, whom she beat in last year's final, both strode through their quarter-finals with regal ease. Miss Smith defeated 22-year-old Trudy Greenman, first Dutch girl to reach the last eight for 39 years, 6-0, 6-4, while the Brazilian disposed of Francine Durr, the seventh seeded French girl, almost as easily 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. Ann Haydon Jones of Britain, seeded third by virtue of her winning this year's French and Italian championships, dropped a set to fifth seeded Nancy Richey of Dallas, Tex., but eventually won in commanding fashion 4-6, 6-1, 6-1.

The fourth seed, ebullient little Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., nearly came unstuck against Annette Van Zyl, the tall South African girl, but won 1-6, 6-2, 6-4.

In the semifinals Thursday, Margaret Smith will play Mrs. King and Maria Bueno will play Mrs. Jones.

Both fights would be telecast to the United States and other parts of the world as was Clay's sixth round knockout of Henry Cooper at London, England, last May 21.

In London, British promoter Jack Solomons said only one or two little things still had to be ironed out for the Clay-London fight.

Bolin And Giants Tip Cards Again 7-1

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bob Bolin pitched hitless ball until Orlando Cepeda singled with one out in the seventh inning and wound up with a two-hitter as the San Francisco Giants whipped St. Louis 7-1 Tuesday night.

Bolin, who evened his record at 5-5, was backed by a 13-hit attack that included Willie Mays' 523rd homer.

Just before Cepeda, an ex-Giant, singled for the Cardinals' first hit, Jim Hart caught his pop foul but the catch was nullified because it was made in the visitors' dugout.

Mays socked a two-run homer in the eighth inning, his 14th of the season.

The Giants, retaining their four-game National League lead over second-place Pittsburgh, scored their third win in a row and their 13th in the last 17 games.

Senator Douglas Sets Fair Date At Griggsville

United States Senator Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) announced that he will appear in Pike County at the Western Illinois Fair at Griggsville at 8:15 p.m. on July 1.

The appearance of Senator Douglas will be part of a ten-day swing through southern and western Illinois in his statewide campaign for re-election.

During the ten days of campaigning, the Senator will shake hands at fair gates, speak at arranged areas with breakfast and coffee hours, dedicate post offices, and attend several press conferences.

Douglas said he will stress the record of six years of sustained prosperity under the Kennedy-Johnson administrations. He said net income per farm in Illinois has risen from $3,704 in 1960 to $5,979 in 1965, or 61 per cent. "In almost every way, the farmer has prospered under this administration," Douglas said.

"It is on this record of accomplishments," says Senator Douglas, "that I am running for re-election."

Douglas is opposed by Republican Charles Percy in the senate race.

Gertrude Shaw, Lifelong Pike Resident, Dies

GRIGGSVILLE — Mrs. Gertrude Jane Shaw, 71, a lifelong resident of Griggsville, passed away at 9:30 p.m. Monday at Illini hospital in Pittsfield.

She was a member of the Griggsville Nazarine church, the Army Mothers and the American Legion Auxiliary.

Five daughters, three sons, two sisters, one brother, 19 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren survive. Daughters include: Mrs. Avery Ervin of Griggsville, Mrs. Leon Ervin of Griggsville, Mrs. Richard Fair of Springfield, Mrs. Wayne Carr of Oak Forest, Ill., and Mrs. Joseph Phillips of Quincy.

Sons of the deceased are Ralph of Perry, Eugene of Fort Bliss Texas, and Don of Aurora, Ill.

Funeral services will be held at the Griggsville Church of the Nazarine at 2:00 p.m. Friday, with Rev. Arnold Rowland officiating. Interment will be in Griggsville cemetery.

The body was taken to the Skinner Funeral Home in Griggsville where the family will meet friends Thursday afternoon and evening, and Friday before services.

BASHFUL BULL IGNORES COWS, LIKES FLOWERS

CLAREMONT, S.D. (AP) — A bashful bull who shuns romance has found himself a cow-like island in a slough and apparently aims to stay there alone.

"All that bull wants to do is smell the island flowers — like Ferdinand," his erstwhile owner said bitterly.

The two-year-old Angus bull was sold last week by farmer Dick Daly to Philip Bacon and Philip Davidson, both Houghton ranchers.

The bull was nervous when loaded at the Daly farm near Columbia. But Bacon and Davidson thought he would be happy with a harem of cows at a new home.

They unloaded the animal among four or five cows at a stockwater dam in a pasture near here.

The bull took one terrified look at his new playmates, ran through a four-strand barbed wire fence and swam a mile-and-a-half to a 10-acre island in a nearby slough. He has been there since.

Daly said he has had considerable jocular advice about ways of luring the animal off the island.

The cow-hating bull did briefly leave the island over the weekend. But when observers approached him he snorted, turned tail and swam back to his lonely sanctuary.

CONCERT HALLS TOMORROW

The suggestion is based on a study made by the physics department at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Doctors Say Predicting Holiday Deaths Useless

CHICAGO (AP) — A group of physicians charged Tuesday that the "grisly numbers game" of predicting holiday deaths is worthless, and offered their own tips for surviving the July 4 weekend.

Dr. Seymour Charles, Newark, N.J., pediatrician, told a news conference at the American Medical Association convention that the "National Safety Council's" scare psychology doesn't work — it's just a grisly numbers game, and meaningless. The motorist needs specific things to do, or specific things to avoid.

Failure

Dr. Charles, president of the 250-member Physicians for Automotive Safety, and Dr. John States, Rochester, N.Y., orthopedist and president of the 350-member American Association for Automotive Medicine, said:

1. Increase your tire pressure to between 30 to 50 pounds. "Your car may ride a little harder but there is less likelihood that the tires will heat and blow out, and it will handle much better," Dr. States said.

2. Wear shoulder harnesses in the front, seat belts in the rear. "Detroit provides grossly inadequate door latches and restraining devices are the only answer," Dr. Charles said.

Control Children

3. Don't let children climb around in the car. "It is difficult to confine youngsters on a long ride," he concurred, "but a cranky child is better than a dead child. In the event of an impact the child becomes a missile."

He also urged drivers to avoid peak traffic hours, to keep the rear shelf clear of loose objects, to lock all doors from the inside and to stay sober.

The National Safety Council said it works on traffic 365 days a year and does not consider its holiday estimates of fatalities as "a scare campaign."

It added, "We must face the fact that this is a motoring society and probably every car is going to be in service over the holidays. We try to inform drivers what they can do to cope with imperfections in today's cars, today's roads and in other drivers."

Malaria Puts More Men Out Of Action Than Cong

KONTUM, South Viet Nam (AP) — A virulent strain of malaria which has been putting more American soldiers of the 1st Cavalry, Airborne, Division out of action than the Viet Cong has apparently been overcome.

The exact number of men is classified that the malaria strain, called Plasmodium falciparum, called, during the cavalry's recently completed Operation Joe Hooker near Kontum on the coastal plain 200 miles north of Saigon, but in one three-day period from 75 to 100 men were turning in each day with the mosquito-borne disease.

"This is the worst we've ever had it," said Capt. Ernest J. Gentchos of Collinswood, N.J., a physician in B Company of the 15th Medical Battalion.

Near Border

The soldiers did not get the malaria in the Kontum area — where the disease does not prevail — but picked it up on an earlier operation near the Cambodian border far to the west.

The Viet Cong had never been successful in downing nearly a battalion of cavalry but malaria did it.

A cure has been developed, however, and Capt. Gentchos says every case now has been successfully arrested.

Tried at Joliet

A series of experiments was conducted at Stateville Penitentiary in Joliet, Ill., and a uniform program for treatment developed.

Previously, American doctors had returned to the age-old use of quinine to fight the fearsome strain of malaria which was incapacitating soldiers and killing some. But results were not satisfactory.

Quinine still has its role but now it is combined with the DDS and also with daraprim, another antimalaria drug, in a 35-day program of treatment.

Harold Burkrey Dies Tuesday

HAROLD (Jerry) Burkrey, 56, a lifelong resident of Morgan County, passed away at 7:45 a.m. Tuesday at Oaklawn Sanatorium after a long illness.

He was born June 3, 1910 in Woodson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. and Elizabeth Dugger Burkrey. He never married.

Surviving are one sister, Mrs. Anna Hardy, and one brother, Thomas, both of Jacksonville, and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, and three brothers.

The remains were taken to the Reavy Funeral home where the family will meet friends Thursday afternoon and evening, and Friday at 8:00 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home.

Funeral services will be held at 9:00 a.m. Friday in the Church of Our Saviour, with burial to be in Calvary cemetery.

Fink, Texas Set For National Fink Week Fete

FINK, Tex. (AP) — The usual decorum of this town is expected to be exploded — by maybe 50 or 100 persons — when it celebrates National Fink Week Wednesday.

Mayor Pat Albright and her husband, Willard, inherited the local celebration of Fink Week and the mayor's job when they bought the total business district of Fink last February.

The former store owner and self-designated mayor, J. L. Allgood, officially designated National Fink Week for Fink, Tex., a year ago.

When he sold to the Albrights, he also conferred the title of mayor and custodian of Fink Week. Actually, says Mrs. Albright, she believes someone in Michigan designated the national observance.

A fink, says the dictionary, is slang for squealer or informer. It has become a word much used in recent years by the teen-age set.

"We don't have much of a formal program planned," said Mrs. Albright. "We're going to have barbecue sandwiches and cold drinks for Finks and well-wishers who drop by."

The store is a combination filling station and grocery. Its main customers are residents along Lake Texoma, eight miles away on the Texas-Oklahoma border.

The population depends on where you draw the boundary line. There are three homes in the vicinity of the store — "No, there are four now with a new one down the highway a little piece," said Mrs. Albright.

The town is not incorporated. Many years ago the founders wanted to call it Georgetown, but postal officials came up with the name of Fink for reasons no longer recalled and before the word Fink came into general use. It no longer has a postoffice.

Mrs. Albright says she is a little nervous preparing for the celebration, but she says she is confident there will be a lot of Finks and friends of Finks and those who would like to be friends of someone named Fink who will drop in.

Do the Albrights live in Fink? No, they live in nearby Tanglewood. It's not on most maps, either.

Baby Seal Has Humans Teaching Her To Swim

WASHINGTON (AP) — Everybody was proud of Loo-Seal. Here she was just 29 days old Tuesday, and she had learned to swim.

Of course, Loo-Seal should not have much trouble learning how to swim. She's a baby sea lion. But she's been raised by people, and people had to help her, because "she thinks she's people," one keeper explained.

Loo-Seal was born at the National Zoological Park last May 31. Her mother, who normally would teach her to swim, didn't take care of her baby, so zoo officials took Loo-Seal to their veterinarian hospital.

There Loo-Seal took nourishment from a baby bottle, growing fat on a substitute for milk, blended smelt, cod liver oil and regular baby vitamins.

She got a bath every day in the sink.

Tuesday was her first day out of the hospital and in a real pool. Scores of zoo attendants, reporters and photographers came to see the debut.

For the first swimming lesson, Joe Smith and his wife, Arusha, a nice hippopotamus couple, loaned their pool while they went elsewhere.

Dr. Clinton W. Gray, the zoo's head veterinarian, donned his swimming trunks to be the instructor. Mrs. Jan Davis, a medical technologist at the zoo, who's helped raise Loo-Seal, helped.

Loo-Seal seemed a bit shy about it at first. Dr. Gray held his hand under her tummy, but she'd flounder when the support was gone.

Then she'd go nuzzle behind Mrs. Davis' legs.

But she was willing. Finally, her flippers flapping like crazy, she took off for about four feet. "That's a good girl," Gray encouraged her.

Alternately, Loo-Seal showed off and then put on her shy act, nuzzling Gray's shoulder.

After about 15 minutes, she was showing off unabashedly. "I think she's got it now," a keeper said, and everybody clapped.

Powell Terms Draft System 'Sacred Cow'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Selective Service System was pictured as a "sacred cow" today and a California congressman said low-grade civil service clerks are running local draft boards.

Rep. Adam Clayton Powell, D-N.Y., criticized current draft deferment tests, saying: "First, we provide an inferior education for black students. Next, we give them a series of tests which many will flunk because of an inferior education. Then we pack these academic failures off to Viet Nam to be killed."

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Calif., appearing at a House Armed Services Committee hearing on the Selective Service System, claimed "the civil service clerks are running the boards, not the members."

Rep. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., blistered what he termed a draft procedure "operating in a hodgepodge of confusion and inconsistencies."

"I cannot accept the implication of some that the Selective Service System is a sacred cow, above reproach and impervious to improvement," he declared.

A uniform system of deferments and a national central pool to include all top priority, 1A registrants were items most cited as possibly the best remedy to charges of inconsistency of the draft.

But the local board concept was defended by Rep. Joe Waggoner, D-La., who called it "the real strength of the draft."

DENOUNCE BEATLES

TOKYO (AP) — Several Japanese rightists shouting "Beatles, have a haircut and go home," tried early Wednesday to block the quartet's way to downtown Tokyo but were intercepted by police. The Beatles are here for a one-week tour of Japan.

Inquest Jury Returns Verdicts In Two Deaths

Two inquests were held at the courthouse Tuesday evening concerning recent deaths in Jacksonville.

The first inquest concerned the death of Emmett Perkins (Pappy) Gardner, 71, who died at Holy Cross hospital June 19 after being struck by a Norfolk and Western train at the North Sandy Street Crossing June 18. The jury determined that the death was accidental.

The second inquest concerned the death of Raymond Watson, 58, a volunteer patient at Jacksonville State Hospital who was struck by a truck in the 100 block of West Morton Avenue June 14 and died two hours later.

The jury determined that the death was caused by injuries sustained by the impact with the truck and that death resulted from Watson jumping in front of the vehicle.

Coroner John B. Martin and Deputy Dean Colwell presided at both inquests. Members of the jury were: Margaret Quigg, foreman; Betty Camerer, foreman; Mary K. Lewis, Wanda Grant, Janice Fortado, and Althea Mayberry.

HOUSE GROUP REJECTS SENATE VERSION OF BILL

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Commerce Committee rejected Tuesday to speed consideration of auto safety legislation — rejecting a move to substitute the tough Senate-passed bill for its own version.

The committee also voted down, by a substantial margin, a proposal supported by the automobile industry to give a major role in setting new car safety standards to the Vehicle Equipment Safety Commission, a 44-state compact, instead of to the secretary of commerce.

Members voting to reject the Senate bill included some of the strongest supporters of tough legislation. And it was expected that several key Senate provisions would eventually be added by separate amendments to the House version.

Preliminary votes backed up the contention by Reps. John E. Moss and Lionel Van Deerlin, both D-Calif., that the committee will approve a bill as far-reaching as the one passed 76 to 0 last Friday by the Senate.

However, the action turning down the Senate version is expected to delay final action by the committee. It has several amendments still before it and final approval is considered an impossibility before Congress starts a 10-day Independence Day recess Thursday.

A principal difference at present between the Senate and House bills is that the Senate version requires establishment of federal motor vehicle safety standards by Jan. 31, 1967, while the House bill leaves the date for such standards open.

However, the committee has not yet voted on an amendment to put a specific date into the House bill.

CREATE NEW PARK

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Interior Committee approved Tuesday a House-passed Bill creating the George Rogers Clark National Historical Park at Vincennes, Ind.

The bill, to be considered next by the Senate, provides for a park in an area where British, Colonists and Indians fought in the 1700s. Development costs are estimated at $300,000.

Pope Gets Report On Birth Control

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI was handed Tuesday an 800-page final report that will form the basis for his much-awaited major pronouncement on birth control.

Julius Cardinal Dopfner of Munich, Germany, spent an hour with the Pontiff when he brought in the recommendations of the Pope's special study commission.

The commission worked two years to draw up what reportedly is a series of conclusions reflecting several viewpoints rather than a single unanimous idea about possible changes in Roman Catholic moral teaching on contraception.

Pope Paul is expected to spend the summer going through the thick volume and studying all its arguments and to make his decision public in the fall, perhaps through an encyclical. Handing over of the 73-man commission's report by the progressive German cardinal was somewhat of a surprise.

Alfredo Cardinal Ottaviani, 74, the commission president and head of the Vatican's Congregation for the Doctrine of the Faith, had been expected to give the Pope the report.

Vatican circles speculated that the conservative Italian cardinal may have been reluctant to hand in the report because of personal opposition to passages favoring limited use of contraceptive pills.

Cardinal Ottaviani's birth control views, as expressed during the 1962-1965 Vatican Ecumenical Council, had been against shifting the Church's long rejection of any form of contraception except the rhythm system of periodic abstinence.

Some of the commission had wanted no change at all in the Church's teaching. Others wanted the Church to allow use of the modern pill but only for better regulation of the monthly female cycle. Still others urged permission for general use of contraceptives by Catholic couples.

PROMISES FAIR SHAKE FOR CATV

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A federal communications commissioner promised Tuesday fair treatment, "both collectively and individually," for the national community television industry.

James J. Wadsworth told the association's annual convention, "The CATV industry, both collectively and individually, need have no fear of not getting a 'fair shake' from the commission."

Wadsworth said that Congress, rather than the FCC, should establish national policy on CATV.

"After all, CATV, is a technical phenomenon that has arisen and is flourishing in protest against the ancient allocation scheme that was based on not entirely up-to-date technical concepts," he said.

Wadsworth said he insisted on close congressional liaison as an important contribution to the over-all CATV regulatory program.

Open-Housing Bill Passes First Big Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's controversial open housing proposal narrowly survived an attempt Tuesday to scuttle it in the House Judiciary Committee.

The vote in the sharply divided committee was reported to be 17 to 15 against killing a key section of the 1968 civil rights bill that would ban racial discrimination in the sale and rental of housing.

Major amendments that would exempt some forms of housing from the law still remain to be acted on before the committee gives final approval to the measure.

An amendment by Rep. Jack B. Brooks, D-Tex., that would have exempted one- and two-family homes occupied by the owner was defeated, as was another Brooks proposal that would have eliminated rental units in small, owner-occupied homes.

GOP Against

Republicans on the committee reportedly voted solidly against Brooks' amendments, although a majority of the 11 GOP members then voted to kill the entire section.

The position of the Republicans left civil rights supporters on the committee puzzled and unwilling to make any predictions as to how the issue will be finally resolved.

Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., called the closed committee meeting "quite a session," and ordered the other members not to divulge any of the proceedings to newsmen.
